Transforming Loss: Finding Potential for Growth

Authors include: Kenneth Doka, Bonnie Carroll, Bret Moore, Richard Tedeschi, Robert Neimeyer, Kelli Triplett, Gillian Mayersohn, as well as hospice and bereavement professionals Brandon Brewer and Patti Anewalt.

Transforming Loss examines the history and identification of transformative experiences in the wake of loss; explores how the nature of the loss, spirituality, age, and other factors affect growth; and provides other tools and interventive strategies for clinicians to support and encourage transformative growth in grieving clients. It also looks at the role that support groups and self-help advice can play in this process and shares personal stories of individuals' transformative experiences.
