

Biography of Allan Wells

Allan Wells is a partner in the Labour and Employment Law Department at Osler, Hoskin & Harcourt LLP. Allan represents and provides strategic advice to management in all areas of labour and employment law. His employment law practice includes executive compensation arrangements, human rights and accommodation in the workplace, employment contracts and workplace policies, workplace restructuring and corporate transactions, wrongful dismissals, employment standards and occupational health and safety. His labour relations practice involves advising management on union organizing and the administration and enforcement of collective agreements.