

David Simon is the President of WeComply, Inc. A trial and appellate lawyer for 14 years, he has created hundreds of CD-ROM and web-based training programs for both lawyers and non-lawyers over the past decade. In the 1990s, David developed the first online audio and video training programs to receive continuing-education accreditation, netting him the Award of Outstanding Achievement for Use of Technology from the Association of Continuing Legal Education Administrators. Since founding WeComply in 1999, David has been a frequent speaker on compliance and employee-training issues and has written articles for ACC Docket, Directors Monthly, Corporate Counsel magazine, Metropolitan Corporate Counsel, and numerous other publications.
