

William Davis Harn

"Bill", as friends and colleagues know him, is a Senior Attorney for Southern California Edison Company, an investor owned electrical utility company with nearly 14,000 represented and non-represented employees in several states. Bill has specialized in representing SCE and other employers on employment and labor matters since 1993, actively litigating cases through jury trial and appeal while providing practical legal advice and solutions to client organizations on a broad panoply of employment, labor and some benefits matters. Currently the Chair of ACC's Employment and Labor Law Committee, Bill has been a past ACC and MCLE panelist on several subjects including discovery in employment law matters, workplace privacy, leave and disability management, wage and hour law, and the elimination of bias within the legal profession.

[Optional: Along with other pro bono and community activities, Bill has been actively involved in SCE's program with Streetlaw, a non-profit organization dedicated to furthering a diversity pipeline to the legal profession by promoting the practice of law to local high school students. In his other spare time, he serves on the Board of Directors for ACC's Southern California chapter and provides over one hundred hours of service annually to the Los Angeles County Superior Court as a volunteer mediator and temporary judge. Bill had a full career in managerial finance and accounting before receiving his J.D. with great distinction from the University of the Pacific McGeorge School of Law in 1992.]

Bill served as the creator and coordinator of the SCE Law Department Summer Legal Intern Program from its inception in 2003 through 2006 and still provides oversight to the current summer program team.
